

New way to follow my journey!

NEW WEBSITE

I have decided to create a website where I will post blogs and upload my newsletters, so you can read past ones as well as the newest releases.

The blogs will include more detailed accounts of what God is doing in both my life and the lives of the students I am supporting. There will also be links to videos or "vlogs" with testimonies from the students and updates on either the lecture phase or outreach phase.

I'm super excited to show you my website. I've spent many hours making the website and the template, and throughout this week I'll be adding my own content. The website will be in English since it would be too much work to do it in both Danish and English. However, I will still continue to make newsletters and send them out by email in two languages.

WHO AM I?

My name is Markus Christiansen. I am 25 years old and from Denmark. I was a missionary kid in Taiwan

 markusinmission.com

It is still a work in progress, but hopefully, in the month to come, it will be finished. The website name is markusinmission.com, and if there is ever something you think could be cool to add, give me a text and I'll look into it!
