

SEASON OF PATIENCE

September 2024

FAMILY WEDDING

I also had the joy of attending a wedding with someone who was in Taiwan with us and is therefore like family. It was a lovely time and a pleasure to be able to attend. Seeing someone you grew up with say their "yes" is so beautiful.

I am also going to start working again on Monday. The pain in my shoulder has gotten better, and it'll be a flexible job, so I can come and go as I please.

HAVE YOU LEFT YET?

No, not yet, but soon! I have submitted my visa petition, and all I can do now is wait. It has been a challenging time for me because of my injury and being stuck at home. However, this month has also brought me a lot of peace and quality time with my friends and family. God is really teaching me patience!

I took a spontaneous trip to Hungary to visit one of my friends from SBS for a few days. It gave me so much encouragement and excitement to pursue what God has called me to do! It was also great to see the Budapest YWAM base, and we joined their base worship. It gave me a little taste of what is to come.

THANK YOU

To everyone reading this newsletter and showing patience, thank you! To all who are beginning to support me through the next year, I just want to thank you so, so much! Even though I am not there yet, any money is being set aside for my stay and will not be touched until I arrive. I am confident that in a month, I will be on my way! Blessings to all,
Markus
